Report

The first session was on "Personality Development" by Dr. Amandeep Kahlon. The speaker defined the character traits of a human being as "OCEAN" ie Openness, Conscientiousness, Extraversion, Agreeableness, Neuroticism. She spoke about the importance of patience and mentioned that more than the result, it is the intent that defines success. "Only one person that can change you is you yourself." is what she quoted. She concluded the session by asking the students about one change they would like to make in themselves after attending the session.

Later on, the session was taken over by Dr.Manvinder Kaur. She took the session on "Communication Skills" with the students. The speaker gave ways to introduce oneself while maintaining the right body posture, which would boost the confidence. She taught that a good communication skill not only lies in good speaking but also includes attentive listening, by a fun game. She also mentioned Sign Language as another way of communicating and illustrated the same with another activity. It was a very involving and fun session.
The second day of the workshop was on the Topic "Resume Writing". It was led by Mr. Sahil Arora. He told about a few things which would add more value to our Resume. He talked about mentioning the USP i.e., Unique Selling Proposition along with the instances to justify the same. He suggested a few key points for a good resume. Few of them are: keeping it of one page, inclusion of case studies, usage of more numbers than text etc. He ended the session by stating that one should never oversell oneself. It was quite an informative session with him.

The workshop was concluded with another session on "Interview Skills" which was conducted by Mr. Sanjeev Gupta. He emphasized having a positive attitude in an interview and how being organized and presentable leaves an impression on the interviewer, the importance of carrying supplies, and later the speaker wrapped up the wonderful session with the idea of conveying your story using the STAR technique.

This "2 day Soft Skills Workshop" was quite fun, interactive and knowledgeable for the students. There was so much to learn from them. Hence, another successful workshop at DCSA, Panjab University.
